

Douglas Issue Runs Into a Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford is facing a challenge within GOP ranks to his effort to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

In an hour long speech Tuesday, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, Jr., a Republican lawyer from California, said Ford's charges against Douglas do not constitute grounds for impeachment.

McCloskey spoke out shortly after the House Judiciary Committee agreed to consider an impeachment resolution against Douglas. Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., promised a full and impartial inquiry by a special five-member subcommittee.

Should the panel refuse to send the resolution to the floor, a second resolution calling for an investigation by a special committee selected by the speaker is still alive and could be activated at any time.

Ford, following the Celler panel's action, said he still preferred the select committee approach, which would have three Republicans and three Democrats, to the 3-2 Democratic control of the judiciary panel.

Although many Republicans have said privately Ford was making a mistake in leading the charge against Douglas, McCloskey, a 42-year-old second term, was the first to speak out publicly.

He read a 26-page speech that amounted to a legal brief opposing the case Ford made against Douglas in a speech last Wednesday.

The crew cut ex-Marine, who taught ethics in law school and edited the ethics handbook of the California Bar Association, disagreed with Ford that an impeachable offense "is whatever a majority of the House of Representatives considers it to be at a given moment in history."

"If this concept is accurate," said McCloskey, "then of course there are no limitations on what a political majority might determine to be less than good behavior."

McCloskey said all but one of Ford's charges dealt with the 71-year-old justice's political philosophy and utterances, or with behavior having no bearing on his judicial conduct. Such charges are not proper ground for impeachment, he said.

The one charge dealing with judicial conduct, and therefore the most serious, said McCloskey, was that Douglas failed to disqualify himself in a case brought before the Supreme Court by a magazine publisher from whom the justice had received a $350 author's fee. "Reasonable minds may differ on this point," he said, "but standing alone it would hardly seem to justify the serious consideration of impeachment."

McCloskey found another Republican supporter when he finished his speech. Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr. R-Ohio, agreed with McCloskey that no evidence warranting so serious a step as impeachment had been presented yet.

Thinks 1970 Year of GOP

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Rep. George E. Nowotny Jr. of Fort Smith, the only announced candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, said Tuesday night he believed that 1970 "will be the year of the GOP in Arkansas."

Nowotny also told about 135 persons attending a dinner at Bauxite sponsored by the Saline County Republicans that the two-party system was the only way to have progress in Arkansas.

A household of four people produces an average of 70 pounds of refuse each week, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Voluntary Removal of Bad Food

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has initiated the voluntary market removal of 13.9 million servings of a nationally known soup mixture because of food poisoning danger.

Also since January, it has spurred industry recalls of 334,000 pounds of popcorn packed by a Millford, Ill., firm; of 24,000 nationally distributed frozen strawberry pies manufactured by a Columbus, Ohio, baker; and of 2,000 cases of a name-brand candy. All were contaminated with insect or rodent material, or both.

Other food items recalled in the past three months because of contamination in certain brands and lots include dried eggs, anchovies, noodles, raisins, frozen fried chicken, peanut butter, pimientos, pizzas and cooked mushrooms.

The recalls are never totally successful, according to a spokesman for the Food and Drug Administration. Some of the products are purchased and consumed. The agency can't specify how many.

"Today's scientific knowledge, working through good laws to protect consumers, assures the safety and wholesomeness of every component of the American food supply," says the FDA, and indeed the great majority of foods, health supplies and cosmetics sold to the public are safe and wholesome.

The National Academy of Sciences says, however, FDA inspects only 40 per cent of the 64,000 interstate food processing plants subject to federal checking, and the agency itself estimates that 20 per cent of the plants are in substantial violation of government standards.

The most spectacular recall this year has been the 13.9 million servings of these nationally distributed, cartoned, Lipton soups: Perky Noodle Soup Mix, Chicken Vegetable Soup Mix, Ring-O-Noodle Soup Mix With Real Chicken Broth, Giggie Noodle Soup With Real Chicken Broth—test marketed in New England only—Beef Flavor Noodle Soup With Vegetables.

All the soups were contaminated with a bacteria called salmonella that can cause food poisoning. The organism was traced to the manufacturer of the noodle soup used in the Lipton mixes.

Lipton is recalling the mixes from retail shelves, but the FDA estimated that between 15 and 20 per cent remained on the market as of last week.

The FDA's weekly recall reports for this year show such other health-related product defects as:

—21 instances of contaminated batches of cosmetics, versus 11 in all of 1969. Most of the contaminants found, among other places in eye liner and cologne, were bacteria that can cause skin infections.

—Candle holder whose base explodes when the candle burns low.

—Drugs of varying potency that were mislabeled, encased in tubes that leaked or lacked an essential ingredient.

—Such supposedly sterile hospital supplies as sponges, scalpels and catheters that were contaminated.

Tuesday night the FDA warned against eating a brand of prepared pizzas distributed by the Roman Inn Pizza Co., throughout the upper Midwest.

The FDA said mushrooms in some of the 80,000 "Roman Deluxe Italian Brand" pizzas produced this month are suspected of causing botulism, an acute food poisoning that can be fatal.

Roman Inn Pizza has been recalling the pizza, the FDA said, but "since distribution has been so widespread and has gone on for several weeks a public warning is considered necessary."

The 24,000 Mountain Top Frozen Strawberry Pies were recalled, the FDA said, because of "rodent contamination of fruit used as a raw material."

The recall of 2,000 cases of Russell Stover Candies distributed in Missouri, Nebraska and Indiana was caused by "rodent and insect infestation of plant and rodent and insect hairs and fragments found in samples," the FDA said.

The agency attributed the recall of the 334,000 pounds of popcorn to "rodent contamination of plant and product." The popcorn is packaged under these labels, according to the FDA: Buddy Boy Hullees, Premiere 404 Monarch Popcorn, Our Family Popcorn, and Richelle.

Asks Money for Disaster Hit Areas

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon urged Congress today to authorize federal loans to communities suffering major disaster so they can make up losses of property tax revenues.

In a special message, Nixon said the general framework of current federal disaster relief programs is effective but declared that "a number of improvements are in order."

One of his principal recommendations was for low-interest loans to offset destruction of a substantial part of a community's property tax base.

Nixon also called for improvements in the disaster loan programs of the Small Business Administration and the Farmers Home Administration.

"The recommended changes," he said, "would provide for improved refinancing, payment deferral, and forgiveness arrangements and would assure disaster loans to older citizens."

The chief executive also asked the Congress to expand federal authority to permit permanent repair or full replacement of central public facilities damaged by disasters.

And he asked for a two-year extension of a program making unemployment compensation available to individuals made jobless because of a major disaster.

Other provisions in the legislation Nixon seeks would speed federally aided removal of debris from private property when it is in the public interest, simplification of laws allowing the government to provide temporary housing or other emergency shelter, and new emphasis on disaster prevention.

Nixon, by executive order, created a National Council on Federal Disaster Assistance made up of senior officials of agencies involved in such efforts.

Also, he said, "We are developing plans to provide 'one stop' service to individuals in disaster areas so representatives of federal agencies and the Red Cross would be available at a single assistance center."

The message revealed, too, that Nixon has ordered a comprehensive study of property insurance coverage for disaster situations, to be completed by the end of the year.

Pollution Is Theme of Earth Day

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

Earth Day is a cleaned pond, a buried auto, a college teacher. It is thousands of Americans seeking to understand the ills of their environment and learn how they can be corrected. Earth Day is today.

The unprecedented event focuses attention in more than 2,000 communities across the country on pollution problems, both local and national. In addition, many groups slated massive clean-ups.

At the same time, some corporations and large businesses singled out for criticism by anti-pollution groups took advertisements and planned talks at various school and community groups to give their side of the story.

Activities planned range from a "pollution trail" in Oklahoma to grade schoolers' litter pickup. Many were designed to highlight one of four areas: water pollution, air pollution, the automobile and general litter.

Hundreds of motorists planned to forsake their automobiles for the day to protest pollution caused by the internal combustion engine. New York Mayor John V. Lindsay planned to ride to appointments in an electric car.

Traffic bans were scheduled in parts of many cities including New York and Philadelphia. The University of Iowa in Iowa City planned a "Survival Parade of Nonmotorized Transportation."

Other groups planned to bury autos and a group at Western Connecticut State College in Danbury will parade through town pulling a cart with a car engine. They plan to bury the engine on campus.

Air pollution is the target of a Boulder, Colo. group calling itself People United to Reclaim the Environment. They asked residents to curtail use of electricity in an attempt to "reduce air pollution caused by electricity-generating plants."

In Jamestown, N.Y., the Kiwanis Club will dump 20 tons of sand in the downtown area to demonstrate how much dirt falls on one square mile of the city during 30 days of maximum air pollution.

Water pollution was the concern of a group of women from Canada and the United States who joined forces Tuesday to picket on Zug Island in the Detroit River. They protested alleged pollution by the Great Lakes Steel Corp.

Nursing students at the University of Connecticut in Storrs planned to drain and clean Duck Pond, adjoining their campus.

"In recent years, we understand certain chemical pollutants which have found their way into the pond have killed numerous fish," said one student. "It seemed natural that we, as nursing students, would express our concern in cases where pollution could constitute a health deterrent."

At St. Xavier College, a Roman Catholic women's school in Chicago, students will clean up a littered lake on their campus, install a sand bed and plant wild flowers on the shore.

Reynolds Metals Co. said it would send trucks to 18 colleges in 14 states to pick up aluminum cans collected during "trash-ins." They will pay for the cans and will recycle the aluminum for reuse.

In addition the company will have speakers at 15 high schools and universities to answer questions about its operations "and share with them our plans for a cleaner environment."

In Chicago, employees of Commonwealth Edison Co. and Abbott Laboratories, two companies singled out for criticism by anti-pollution groups recently, will give talks at various high schools and colleges.

In the nation's schools and colleges a variety of teach-in programs and demonstrations were planned.

Water fountains at the Coburn Elementary School in Elmira, N.Y., will be turned off all day to give the children an idea of what it might be like to be without fresh water.

A largely volunteer group in Washington has worked since January to coordinate efforts for today's event.

charged a consultation fee of a million dollars a year, plus a $500,000 further fee for any idea suggested to it, whether accepted or rejected. I would limit myself, in any case, to no more than seven ideas a year.

At first I thought I would exclude the public from my week-end brooding sessions, but on second thought I decided that would be unfair to the tourists. So I'll let them in but erect a cautionary sign: "You're welcome to drop dollar bills in the wishing well, but, please, no coins. Their sound distracts the hermit."

When winter threatens I'll also put out a sign saying "Hermit in hibernation—do not disturb." Then I'll put my three vice presidents on public welfare, sneak out alone on some dark night and follow the sound of honking geese flying south. I'm sure that in Miami Beach nobody would bother a hermit incognito tanning himself on the beach and letting the sands of time slip through his happy fingers.

More Data About Social Security

By KEN HARGIS

If you have any questions regarding social security, I invite your letters. Just send them to Ken Hargis, Social Security Administration, P.O. Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas 75501.

QUESTION: My mother lives in a small town which does not have a social security office. How can she find out where and when a social security representative will visit in her area?

ANSWER: She should check with her local post office where a schedule should be available showing the date, time, and place of visits by the social security representative.

QUESTION: I plan to move to another city. If I leave a change of address with the post office, will this be enough to have my address changed on my social security checks?

ANSWER: No. Although you should leave a change of address with the post office, you should also notify the social security office of your new address.

QUESTION: My husband will be 65 in June. He plans to continue working and says he will not be eligible for Medicare since he earns too much to receive social security monthly benefits. Is this correct?

ANSWER: No. A person is eligible for Medicare at age 65 even though he continues working and does not receive monthly benefits. Your husband should file a claim before June 1st to establish his eligibility for Medicare.

QUESTION: The "Explanation of Benefits" form I received from Medicare shows that my doctor filed a claim for office visits in October, November, and December 1969. I do not recall a visit to the doctor's office since July 1969. Could you explain the reasons for this?

ANSWER: A clerical error may be involved in this case, but we will check this out for you. All Medicare beneficiaries should carefully check all "Explanation of Benefits" notices sent them. If the notice appears to be incorrect it should be reported to the social security office immediately.

QUESTION: I will be 65 in June this year and my wife is a year older. I have paid social security tax on maximum earnings since social security started. If I retire and start my benefits the month I am 65, how much will my wife and I receive?

ANSWER: Your monthly payment will be $189.80 and your wife's payment will be $94.90, or a combined total of $284.70 a month. This includes the recent 15 percent increase.

WHEN KIDS MAKE THE RULES — THEY'RE TOUGH!

Dear Readers: If you parents think you're tough about rules, read below and imagine what it would be like if your children laid down the law at your house.

This list of 30 iron-fast orders came to me from a friend, Zorah Buchtmann, whose 10-year-old Laurie helped put on an "afternoon musicale and dance festival" for the neighborhood—in a home fearfully volunteered by one of the mothers.

The young producers, knowing many children would attend, decided to preserve family fixtures, furniture and sanity by handing out these "regulations" at the door:

1. No laughing (I'm sure they meant, "Except when the actors are funny.")
2. No talking.
3. No going to the refreshment stand if no one is there.
4. No stealing anything from the refreshment stand.
5. At intermission time after each song, there will be two minutes for going to the bathroom or to get refreshments.
6. Refreshments every three songs or at intermission time only.
7. No getting up in the middle of songs.
8. No playing with curtains. (Which were floor-length chains of multi-colored paper loops, painstakingly glued together to look like the beaded-curtain entrances of certain speakies the kids must have seen on TV.)
9. No playing with the record player.
10. No going to the bathroom unnecessarily.
11. No going upstairs.
12. No going in the record case.
13. No pushing and shoving.
14. No lifting up chairs.
15. Boys, no teasing girls.
16. Girls, no teasing boys.
17. No pulling dresses.
18. No pulling hair.
19. No pulling necklaces.
20. No making a mess of the room.
21. No pulling down chains. (Think of the days spent gluing them together!)
22. You may go home in the middle of the show, but not in the middle of a song unless sick. (The repertoire included some 30 songs, plus interpretive dancing, so this rule may have been followed more often than some of the others.)

22. In the bathroom there will be changes of costume. DO NOT TOUCH.

23. No touching anything downstairs that does not belong to you.

24. No reading any of the books Debby's mother and father have here.

25. No switching chairs.

26. No annoying anyone.

27. Don't make a show of yourselves.

28. No fooling around.

29. No ruining couch or chairs.

30. No bothering parents.

As Zorah said, if the kids apply the same foresight and thoroughness to planning their futures, they've got it made! After all, the world has managed with only Ten Commandments throughout the ages!—H.

Corpus Delicti

Suppose that a man walks into the police station one day and announces that he has committed a murder. He says he hid the body in the woods, but can't remember where. If no corroborating evidence can be found, may the man nevertheless be sent to jail for homicide?

No, because the case against him lacks a "corpus delicti." And without that, generally speaking, there can be no conviction for a crime. A confession might be either erroneous or involuntary, or might even be induced by some psychological motive other than a desire to tell the truth.

The phrase "corpus delicti" is often mistakenly thought to mean a dead body, perhaps because "corpus" sounds like "corpse." Actually, it just means "the body of the crime"—the physical evidence that a crime has been committed.

It may indeed be a body, but it may also be a burned-down house, or an altered check, or a black eye. Before punishing someone, the law wants to be reasonably sure that a crime really did occur.

It is true that in homicide cases, the most common corpus delicti is the victim's body. However, a murder conviction is possible even if no body is ever found. Take this case:

On the second night of an ocean voyage, a member of the crew vanished from the ship. Another seaman, charged later with murder, defended himself on the ground that the missing man's body was never found—hence, there was no corpus delicti.

However, the prosecutor countered with the following points:

- 1) that the defendant had been alone on the deck with the missing man just before he disappeared;
- 2) that the deck bore fresh bloodstains;
- 3) that a bloodstained knife had been found in the defendant's possession; and
- 4) that the missing man should be presumed dead, because there had been no other vessel nearby that could possibly have picked him up.

The court thereupon ruled that, even with no body, there was still a corpus delicti—that is, a body of evidence indicating that the dastardly deed had been done. Result: the defendant was found guilty of murder.

Kaline Hits Big Punch for Tigers

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer
A slick pair of Tiger rookies supplied the batting punch but it was old pro Al Kaline who softened up and then delivered the knockout blow in Detroit's latest victory.

The East Division leading Tigers, rallied for two ninth-inning runs, nipping Cleveland 5-3 Tuesday night to run their winning streak to six.

In other American League contests, Washington stopped New York 7-5, Minnesota topped Chicago 4-3, Oakland trimmed Kansas City 4-3 and California downed Milwaukee 3-1.

In the National League, San Diego whipped the New York Mets 5-3. Chicago belted St. Louis 7-4, Pittsburgh edged Houston 9-8 and Cincinnati bombed Atlanta 13-8. San Francisco at Philadelphia and Los Angeles at Montreal were called by inclement weather.

The Tigers entered the top of the ninth inning tied at 3-3 but went to the front as rookie third baseman Elliott Maddox stroked a single and two outs later Cesar Gutierrez, a first-year shortstop obtained last year from San Francisco, drilled a run scoring double. Kaline put the finishing touch on the rally with a RBI single.

Kaline, the 35-year-old right fielder, in his 18th major league season, had kept the score even in the eighth inning, with a sensational, leaping catch at the fence, robbing Ted Uhlaender of a home run.

In the fourth inning, Maddox' first major league hit—a single—had tied the game, capping a three-run inning. Kaline triggered the rally with a single.

A two-out error by Yankees shortstop Gene Michael, followed by Bernie Allen's three-run homer, put the Senators in to stay at 5-3.

Casey Coxworth 7 1-3 innings for his third triumph without a loss while New York ace Mel Stottlemyre, rapped for 11 hits in six innings, took his third defeat. He has yet to win. Lee Maye stroked four hits for the Senators and scored four runs. Danny Cater drilled three hits for the Yankees.

Harmon Killebrew's three-run homer in the sixth inning provided the Twins with their winning margin. It was Killebrew's second of the season and 44th of his career. He also scored his 99th career run. White Sox starter Tommy John absorbed his fourth loss of the young season.

Don Mincher rapped a two-run homer in the eighth inning, giving the A's their victory after helping the Royals take a 3-2 edge earlier in the inning with a throwing error.

Mincher, the big first baseman obtained during the winter from California, scooped up Ed Kirkpatrick's sacrifice bunt and fired wildly into left field attempting to nail Pat Kelly at third.

Kelly scored to put the Royals ahead 3-2 but Mincher made up for his miscue with his 420-foot clout over the center field fence. It was his fourth homer of the season.

Reggie Jackson also rapped a two-run shot for the A's. It was Jackson's third this season.

Tom Murphy, 2-1, with ninth-inning relief help, scattered three hits, striking out three and walking three and opened the decisive three-run third inning for the Angels with a single.

The Angels' triumph kept them in a first-place tie in the West while the Brewers were losing their sixth consecutive game.

After Murphy singled, Sandy Alomar walked and both runners moved up on a ground out. Run-scoring singles by Bill Voss and Alex Johnson drove in two runs and Jay Johnstone knocked in the third tally with a double.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

—Arkansas' offensive units worked out for two hours Tuesday and coach Frank Broyles said he was pleased with the practice session.

"All three passers and receivers were better," Broyles said. "The receivers were more the passes were on target."

Broyles said a light scrim-

Penquins Are

Wailing St.

Louis Blues

By BEN THOMAS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Bruins are singing

"Chicago, Chicago, it's a wonderful town" and the Pittsburgh

Penguins are wailing "The St.

Louis Blues" after the first two games of the Stanley Cup semifinals in the National Hockey League.

The Bruins headed home to Boston Garden today with a 2-0 lead in their best-of-7 East Division series with the Chicago

Black Hawks. The Penguins are en route to Pittsburgh trailing

St. Louis 2-0 in the West.

Boston, with Bobby Orr's brilliance again providing the difference, defeated the Hawks

4-1 Tuesday night while the Blues downed the Penguins by the same score.

Orr, the magnificent 22-year-old defenseman who led the NHL in scoring for the regular season got his first goal of the year against Chicago and started the Bruins on the road to victory. He had a total of three points, all assists, against the Hawks in eight regular season games. With two assists in Sunday's first game and Tuesday night's goal, Orr's matched his regular season production in two playoff clashes.

The Bruins managed only one victory and a tie in eight regular season appearances in Chicago.

The Black Hawks shifted veteran Bobby Hull from right wing to center during the early going in an attempt to confuse the Boston defense. It didn't.

Chicago managed only 13 shots on goal in the first two periods.

Phil Esposito of the Bruins, leading scorer in last year's

Stanley Cup series and the No. 2

pointmaker behind teammate

Orr in the regular campaign, got his 10th goal of the playoffs, slashing the puck past his younger brother Tony, the Hawk goalie, at 5:02 of the final period.

Braves Glad Red Menace Has Left

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Red Menace has gone with the wind, leaving Atlanta in a shambles and Phil Niekro in a state of shock.

Cincinnati's rampaging Reds tagged Niekro for four of their seven home runs Tuesday night and thumped the bedazzled Braves 13-8 to go 4½ games ahead of the pack in the National League West.

"If Cincinnati is this good," mused Braves Manager Luman Harris, "they can just go on to the World Series."

Only three weeks having gone by in the regular season, the Reds will go on instead to St. Louis—after today's open date—with a 13-4 season mark and 30 home runs, the last 10 of them in two victories at Atlanta.

The Braves, meanwhile, will spend an off-day pondering the wreckage of a 2-6 homestand that has dropped them into the West Division cellar.

In Tuesday's other NL action, Pittsburgh outlasted Houston 9-8; the Chicago Cubs downed St. Louis 7-4 and San Diego tripped the New York Mets 5-3. Rain washed out the Los Angeles-Montreal and San Francisco-Philadelphia games.

In the American League, Minnesota nipped the Chicago White Sox 4-3; Detroit topped Cleveland 5-3; Washington defeated the New York Yankees 7-5; Oakland nudged Kansas City 4-3 and California beat Milwaukee 3-1. Boston and Baltimore were idle.

Tony Perez, the majors' hottest hitter, crashed his eighth homer and three singles to pace the Reds' 17-hit assault against Niekro, 0-4, and four Atlanta relievers. Rookie Bernie Carbo slammed two homers and Johnny Bench, Bob Tolan, Pete Rose and rookie Dave Concepcion hit one apiece.

Atlanta homers by Rico Carty, Orlando Cepeda and Felix Millan brought the two clubs within one of the single game National League record.

"I'm hanging too many," said Niekro, the knuckleball artist who won 23 for the Braves last season but carries a 7.77 earned run average after four starts this spring and has been the victim of 11 homers in 24 1/3 innings. "They're waiting, and it's jumping out."

Perez's 4-for-5 night boosted his batting average to .484, tops in both leagues. The Cincinnati third baseman also is setting the pace in home runs, RBI's (22) and hits (30).

Roberto Clemente's first homer of the year capped a five-run flurry in the sixth inning, sending the Pirates ahead 9-4, and they hung on to shade Houston. Jim Wynn delivered five runs for the Astros with a bases-loaded double and his fourth homer.

Billy Williams' three-run homer and Johnny Callison's two-run blast, both off Bob Gibson in the seventh inning, carried the Cubs past the Cardinals to their sixth straight victory. The homers were the first of the season off St. Louis pitching.

San Diego, beaten 11 straight times by the Mets, scored twice in the ninth to snap a 3-3 deadlock. Clarence Gaston knocking in the go-ahead run when center fielder Tommie Agee misjudged his liner and it fell for a double. Nate Colbert hit his sixth homer for the Padres.

Stanley Cup record jointly owned by Maurice Richard, 1944, and Jean Beliveau, 1956, both of Montreal.

Pittsburgh Coach Red Kelly made some unexpected shifts, also, and he wasn't any more successful than Chicago's Billy Reay. Kelly put defenseman Tracy Pratt and Dunc McCallum at the wings for the opening faceoff and the Blues had the first goal in 31 seconds.

"I figured that he'd lose the game because of it, and he did," said St. Louis coach Scotty Bowman.

Ab McDonald of St. Louis tied a Stanley Cup record with assists on all three first period Blues' goals. He upped his point total for the playoffs to 13, the same number Orr has and one shy of Esposito's total.

Pittsburgh only made five shots on goal during the first period and this angered Kelly. "I've never seen the puck go into the net yet if you don't shoot it," he snorted. "All year long we were shooting the puck. Now, all of a sudden, we don't want to."

Bowman said the pressure is on Pittsburgh now. "They have to win two at home to have a chance."

Barber Vaults to 3rd Place Moneywise

NEW YORK (AP) — Miller Barber's playoff victory at New Orleans has vaulted him to third place on the money list, the Professional Golfers Association's Tournament Player Division said Tuesday night.

Barber, in ninth place a week ago, has won a total of $65,341 in 15 tournaments. He has played in more tournaments than any other golfer on the top 10 money list.

Lee Trevino continues to lead the list with $84,739, followed by Dick Lotz with $67,021. South African Gary Player is fourth with $61,483; followed by Bob Luna $58,826; Masters champ Billy Casper $57,849; Bruce Devlin $48,769; Tony Jacklin $41,726; Bert Yancey $41,378 and Dave Stockton $41,076.

Trevino and Casper each have two victories. Of the others on the top 10 list, only Stockton and Jacklin are non-winners.

Eddie Meador Retiring From Pro LA Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's parting-of-the-way day for two stellar veterans of the Los Angeles Rams football team — defensive end Lamar Lundy and free safety Eddie Meador.

The 35-year-old Lundy, a 13-year man with the National Football League Rams and a member of the original front "Fearsome Foursome," has been traded to the San Diego Chargers for an unspecified draft choice.

Meador, 32, Mr. Everything on defense for 11 years, announced his retirement to devote full time to extensive business interests near Dallas, his birthplace.

Lundy was in and out of uniform the past two seasons with knee problems but appeared to be physically sound late in the 1969 campaign.

Meador's 44 career pass interceptions are a Ram record. He was a co-captain and player representative for several years, a deadly tackler, punt-return specialist and held on field goal and extra-point attempts.

Hope Girl First Negro Recruiter for Braniff

GWENDOLYN DORIS SMITH

Miss Gwendolyn Doris Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George (Boots) Smith of Hope, is the first Negro recruiter on Braniff International Airlines, headquartered in Dallas.

She was graduated from Yerger High School in 1962, from Bishop College in Dallas in 1966 with a B.A. degree in sociology, and from Braniff Hostess College in 1968.

Gwen previously was employed by the First Presbyterian Center as a social case worker in Dallas, and by Hope School District I-A as a social worker for Title I program. She is listed in the Who's Who book for American colleges and universities.

Her duties now are teaching in the Hostess College when classes are in session, as a hostess, and recruiting at most of the major colleges in the United States. Last month she recruited at schools in West Virginia, New Orleans, and Nashville.

Gwen's father is a long-time pressman for Hope Star.

Miller Again Named Head of AP Board

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Miller, president of Gannett Newspapers, has been re-elected president of The Associated Press by its Board of Directors.

Miller, 63, was chosen Tuesday along with Richard L. Jones Jr. of the Tulsa, Okla., Tribune, as first vice president, and D. Tennant Bryan of the Richmond, Va., News Leader and Times-Dispatch, as second vice president.

Miller, a former assistant general manager of the AP, has been a director of the worldwide news cooperative since 1950, except for a brief interval, and has been elected president each year since 1962.

Jones and Bryan, newly re-elected to the board, succeed William Dwight of the Holyoke, Mass., Transcript-Telegram, and Eugene C. Pulliam of the Phoenix, Ariz., Gazette, who completed the maximum three successive three-year terms on the board.

Bryan and Richard C. Steele of the Worcester, Mass., Telegram and Sunday Telegram, were elected to the executive committee, joining five members who were re-elected.

AP Deputy General Manager Harry T. Montgomery and James F. Tomlinson were re-elected as the organization's secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Renamed to the executive committee were Miller, chairman; James L. Knight of the Miami, Fla., Herald; Jones; Otis Chandler of the Los Angeles Times; and Martin S. Hayden of the Detroit News and Sunday News.

UA Baseball Team Takes Twin Bill

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Jerry Blackwood picked up his first victory of the year as Arkansas completed a double-header sweep of Oklahoma City University with a 9-3 decision. The Razorbacks won the first game 9-4, building up an 8-0 lead after two innings.

The Razorbacks rallied from a 3-2 deficit to win the second game for Blackwood, now 1-4. Freddy Howard, 4-2, was credited with the victory in the first game.

Fred Wanger paced the Razorbacks with five hits during the afternoon and Mike Pryor collected four hits. Jack Price homered for Oklahoma City in the first game.

Arkansas is now 12-9, OCU 2-6.

Travelers Still Looking for a Victory

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers are still looking for their first Texas League victory of the year.

Albuquerque banged out 16 hits and defeated the Travs 6-1 Monday night, extending Arkansas' losing streak to four.

The Travs grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a bunt single by Charlie Stewart, a stolen base and a single by Wayne Dees.

Albuquerque went on top to stay in the second when Gary Moore doubled home a run and scored on Joe Ferguson's singles. The Dodgers added three more runs in the fourth when they collected five hits, including doubles by Ferguson and pitcher Jim Flynn.

Flynn was the winning pitcher, permitting five singles.

The Memphis Blues ran their unbeaten streak to four with a 10-3 victory over Amarillo. In other league action, Shreveport bunched its hits in the fourth and sixth innings to defeat Dallas - Fort Worth 4-2. San Antonio's game at El Paso was postponed because of a dust storm.

Testimony in F11 Probe Continues

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Testimony is to continue today in a federal Grand Jury's investigation of parts manufactured by the Selb Manufacturing Co. of Walnut Ridge for the controversial F-111 airplane.

The Grand Jury heard 14 witnesses Tuesday and seven Monday. U.S. Atty. W. H. Dillahunty said he planned to call seven or eight more witnesses today.

Dillahunty said the Grand Jury might finish with the Selb testimony by late afternoon.

Selb made the upper and lower parts for the "wing box" which contains pivots of the movable wings of the plane, and some sizes of the long-erons, the ribs that form the airplane fuselage. General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., prime contractor, canceled the purchase orders for the parts last June 30.

The Justice Department announced last October that the Selb firm was being investigated by the FBI. The announcement came shortly after Washington columnist Jack Anderson reported that F-111 parts manufactured by Selb contained "unauthorized weldings."

Texarkana, Tex. Has No Rat Problem Now

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Texas Community Services Director Bill Westbrook says rats are not a "significant problem" in Texarkana at this time.

Westbrook credits the city's improved garbage collection services for removal of most of the rats.

He said enforceability of the garbage removal came when the service was provided by the city and charges included water bills.

"Drying up their food supply was our first step in this successful rat control program," he said. "Rats require food, water and harborage. If you deny them any two of those three requirements, you can't have rats."

"The enforced garbage removal program got rid of the food supply," Westbrook said. "Now 'Operation Clean Sweep' is getting rid of the harborage."

Westbrook is supplementing these two programs with a poisoning project in which he uses a newly developed poison provided for him by a pharmaceutical firm in Fort Washington, Pa.

"They accidentally discovered this poison and found that it is highly toxic to a Norway rat and nothing else," he said. "It will kill a Norway rat in less than an hour with a single dose."

He said the poison has been used successfully in bait food ouncements came shortly after Washington columnist Jack Anderson reported that F-111 parts manufactured by Selb contained "unauthorized weldings."

composed of a "bunch of junk" including paraffin and raisins, among other things.

"Poisons are good for keeping rats under control," he said, "but they are not good for getting them under control in the first place. The essential solution comes with a solid waste removal program which eliminates the rats' food supply."

Westbrook refuses to estimate how many rats there were in the city at the beginning of the rat control program. At the time, many news stories carried estimates of Texarkana's rat population as high as 16 or 17 per family.

"Not so long ago," he said, "certainly less than a year ago, we had a significant rat problem. Rats do not constitute a significant problem in Texarkana at this time."

Fort Smith Employees End Strike

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A strike by the nonunion employees at Fort Smith that began Thursday, ended Tuesday.

The striking employees voted Monday afternoon to end the strike. The decision came at a meeting attended by about 90 per cent of the 180 municipal employees who belong to the local chapter of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

The strike began to protest the suspension of Luman Elkins, the union president. Elkins, a senior utility serviceman with the Water Department, was dismissed Friday, by City Administrator Cliff Keheley.

Elkins is expected to appeal his dismissal.

Trio Wanted to Make a Lunar Landing

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL Associated Press Writer SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The men of Apollo 13 were cold, bone-tired and fretful about their ability to get home. But go again? Sure.

And it's a measure of Jim Lovell, Fred Haise and Jack Swigert that they are looking out for the other guys, the astronauts-in-waiting who might be cheated out of a flight if the 13 crew suits up for Apollo 16 or 17.

"We certainly wanted to make a lunar landing," Lovell said emphatically. "Fra Mauro has so much to offer, we thought. We spent an awful lot of time at it. But this was my fourth space flight and there are many people in our organization who have not flown and who deserve to fly and are talented enough to fly."

"They deserve the mission, if they (space agency officials) feel that this team should go back there, I'm certainly willing to go back—but otherwise, I think other people ought to do it."

Haise and Swigert nodded agreement. They looked rested and fit, none the worse for their harrowing days in space as they answered newsmen's questions at a 70-minute televised and broadcast news conference Tuesday night.

Lovell's wife Marilyn was in the audience. Before Apollo 13, when Lovell said he planned to hang up his space helmet after the flight, she had said she was glad. Tuesday night, she just smiled.

Fixes 1980 as Time China to Be Threat

Speakers at Yerger Symposium

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says Red China could develop intercontinental missiles as early as 1973 but is not likely to be a serious nuclear threat until the 1980s.

However, he said in congressional testimony released today, if Peking gets ICBMs in three years, it could threaten the United States with nuclear blackmail because the American Safeguard missile defense system would not be ready.

The three Safeguard antimissile sites proposed now by the Nixon administration would defend only part of the United States against a Chinese attack, Laird told the House defense appropriations subcommittee Feb. 27.

He said all 12 planned Safeguard sites would be needed for full protection against a Chinese attack although a lesser number would give the entire continental United States a "very light area protection."

"But if the Chinese threat came into being as early as 1973," he said in reply to a question, "there would be a gap of several years during which the Chinese could threaten nuclear blackmail against us."

He said the first site in the Safeguard system, which also is designed to protect U.S. retaliatory missiles but not U.S. cities against a massive Soviet attack, is now expected to be in operation in 1974.

In other highlights of the testimony by Laird and the nation's top defense officials at the secret hearings:

—Laird said the Soviets' present missile buildup could put them in a position to gamble on a surprise nuclear attack after 1975. The United States, therefore, must make hard decisions by 1972 at the latest on how far to expand its defenses.

—Laird said President Nixon's plan now is to leave a force of fewer than 60,000 U.S. military advisers in Vietnam but, as in the past, gave no indication on how soon that could be.

—Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, outgoing chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said he has no fear of a South Vietnam surrender when U.S. troops leave "barring one thing, and that would be the disintegration of the South Vietnamese government." He and Laird expressed confidence there will be no such disintegration.

Laird and Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard reported a $1.6 billion increase in total Safeguard costs—to $10.7 billion from last year's estimate of $9.1 billion—if the decision is made to go ahead with completion of all 12 sites by the late 1970s.

Bumpers About Ready to Enter Race

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Dale Bumpers, a lawyer from Charleston, is "90 per cent sure" he will seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination this summer.

Bumpers, 44, said Tuesday he was currently setting up an organization to make him better known throughout the state.

He said "most" of those who have been mentioned as possible Democratic candidates for governor could defeat Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller should the governor decide to seek a third term.

Bumpers said Rockefeller's administration "is not even close to being an efficient administration."

Bumpers, who was defeated in a race for the state legislature in 1962, has been on the Charleston School Board since 1958.

Friday, April 17, 1970, was the semi-final edition of the Yerger Junior High School symposium, "Opportunities in the '70's." There were three featured guest speakers at this assembly.

The first guest speaker was G. Ted Cameron, Chairman of the Board of Mountain Poultry Company which operates a mill in Hope, and President of the Minnie Pearl restaurant chain in Arkansas and Louisiana. He spoke on the subject of Agribusiness, a new business concept on which Mr. Cameron is one of the most informed authorities.

The second guest was Frank Hiegler, one of the youngest stockbrokers in the United States, and a member of the Raney and Son Securities Company in Little Rock. He spoke about the stock market in general and impressed the students with the markets statistical records.

The third guest was Pat Wallendorf, news commentator for KTBS-TV (Channel 3) in Shreveport. He discussed the Radio-Television Broadcasting Industry and was an avid favorite with the students. He received a thunderous ovation, which favor he returned on his 10:00 p. m. news report on Channel 3 by personally thanking the students and student council for such an enjoyable day in Hope.

Bud McLarty, President of Yerger's Student Council, introduced the speakers. G. Cook is Student Council Sponsor and Will V. Rutherford is school principal.

Environmental Action Tied to Middle Class

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — To turn on the room lights, you flip President Nixon's nose.

But that photo pasted on the light switch is about the most radical symbol at Environmental Action, Washington headquarters of today's nationwide "Earth Day" demonstrations against pollution.

"I'm not one of those who smirks when he talks about the middle classes," says national coordinator Denis Hayes. "They're damned important. If we can do anything, it's only by moving the vast bulk of society."

While Environmental Action is young, Utopian and iconoclastic, neither its offices nor its policies contain very much that should shock middle America.

Well, there is a Jules Feiffer cartoon of Nixon as a robot, and a Sunday supplement picture of David and Julie Eisenhower with Mickey Mouse ears drawn on.

And a poster hangs on a wall, bearing the legend, "War is not healthy for children and other living things."

But no sign of a drug culture; no emphasis on sex apart from posters deploring overpopulation and DDT in mothers' milk; wall art that returns to natural beauty, not psychedelic optics.

Hayes himself appears as a modern version of "clean-cut"—tall, lean, soft-spoken and neatly dressed. No tie; but then, no beard either.

He's 25 and unmarried, on leave from his first year at Harvard law school.

The son of a Camas, Wash., paper mill worker, Hayes graduated from Stanford University in 1969 as a history major, after interrupting his college education for about four years to travel the world with a knapsack.

It was Hayes' Stanford connections, as student body president, that brought him eventually into Environmental Action.

The idea was conceived originally by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., as a teach-in—a one-day series of classroom sessions on environment. Nelson set up a steering committee, and Hayes—who already knew many of its members—was asked to coordinate the Earth Day teach-in.

He began last January.

As it caught on, however, Earth Day organizers were swept up in the current toward direct action and began planning street demonstrations against a variety of environmental problems.

Starting today, Environmental Teach-In, Inc.—tax-free and nonpartisan—is being replaced by Environmental Action, taxable and ready to plunge into political campaigns and proxy fights.

But it's still reluctant to assume a mantle of leadership.

"It's really a matter of timing," Hayes explained in an interview.

"We have to create on the part of the people a realization that the value assumptions have to be changed, and that the mechanism of decision-making is inappropriate."

"Too often the people who make decisions are those who are the most buffered from the

Study of Public and Private Schools Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving cautiously in a controversial area, President Nixon has ordered a federal study into the plight of the nation's financially strapped private and parochial schools.

"Should any single school system—public or private—ever acquire a complete monopoly over the education of our children, the result would neither be good for that school system nor good for the country," Nixon said in a statement Tuesday.

He picked the members of the study panel from his Commission on School Finance and directed them to study the crisis of private and church-related schools and make "positive recommendations to me for action."

The panel is to complete its final report by March 5, 1972.

Calling private and church-related elementary and secondary schools an integral part of the nation's educational establishment, Nixon said they educate 11 per cent of all pupils—nearly 6 million school children.

Because of financial hard times and declining enrollments, they are closing at the rate of one per day, Nixon said, adding:

"If most or all private schools were to close or turn public, the added burden on public funds by the end of the 1970s would exceed $4 billion per year in operations and with an estimated $5 billion more needed for facilities."

Nixon did not suggest federal aid to private schools, nor did he mention the controversy raging in many state legislatures over the issue of state support for these institutions.

But he did caution the study panel to keep one main consideration in mind.

"Our purpose here is not to aid religion in particular, but to promote diversity in education within the Constitution," he said.

Nixon said the private and church-related schools "often add a dimension of spiritual value to education affirming in children a moral code by which to live. No government can be indifferent to the potential collapse of such schools."

Sometimes it doesn't pay to take a trick. West was well-aware of this and had no trouble beating South's three no-trump.

He decided not to open his partner's suit and put the five of spades on the track. East produced the queen and South could not wait to win the trick with the ace, since that play gave him two sure spade tricks.

But it didn't help him with his main objective, which was to make three no-trump.

He led a diamond to dummy's king. If East had refused that trick, South could have abandoned diamonds, started on clubs and wrapped up nine tricks. But this was one time when East wasn't going to wait. He played his ace and continued with the six of spades.

South false-carded with the jack but the play was futile. West refused to win that trick.

At this point, South could take three diamonds and three hearts for an eight-trick total but there was no way to get the magic number of nine without attacking clubs. He did cash three diamonds and then led dummy's nine of clubs but once more East wasn't waiting. Up came the ace. Down came the three of spades and down went South.

Generous George would have made the contract. He would have let East hold the first spade trick and let West win the second. This way, he would get one less spade trick but he would shut out West's last two spades and make the game.

Wouldn't this play have been silly if West had opened a four-card spade suit? Yes, indeed! But the odds are that West would open his partner's suit rather than a four-carder of his own.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The summertime is coming to be regarded as a television season in its own right.

There still will be plenty of reruns—economics dictates that—but the networks have lined up some relief for weary viewers.

For one thing, the Smothers Brothers are coming back. Pat Paulsen, whose own show is mercifully being dropped, will join them on ABC at 10 p.m. Wednesday.

Tommy and Dick apparently are going to be closely watched, both as to ratings and behavior. ABC does not want to become embroiled in the kind of censorship battle that caused their firing by CBS last summer. Presumably, if they pass muster on both categories they will be offered an opening next January.

Summer also is the time for silly titles for shows. Try these: "Andy Williams Presents Everything Is Beautiful With Ray Stevens," "Dean Martin Presents the Goldiggers," "Johnny Cash Presents the Everly Brothers Show." Doubt that anyone is going to forget who Andy Williams is over the summer.

Other original shows are on tap. "The Kraft Music Hall" will be hosted by British star Des O'Connor and taped in England. Glen Campbell will be replaced by a variety show to be called, tentatively, "Rap."

Half of "Haw" will be replaced by Wednesday will be replaced by cartoons called "Where's Huddles" and the other half by reruns of "Gomer Pyle." And Jim Nabors himself will be replaced by a music and comedy show known as "Happy Days." "Animal World," seen last summer on CBS, replaces Paulsen on ABC on Thursday.

CBS is bringing back three series from past seasons. Besides "Gomer," there's "Wild Wild West" for Carol Burnett on Monday nights and "He and She" for Tim Conway on Fridays. "He and She" was one of the most civilized comedies on the tube, but died of ratings anemia.

"The Virginian" is bringing back some of the best episodes from its eight years on the air. Among the stars to be seen are Lee Marvin, Lee J. Cobb, Bette Davis, Brian Keith and Geraldine Brooks. Next year "The Virginian" converts to a "Name of the Game" format with three alternating leads.

On Tuesday CBS is dropping "Lancer" and Red Skelton early to put in a third night of movies. The starting time is 7:30 p.m., the earliest for any network movie, so obviously many of them will be of broad family appeal.

In July and August, "Laugh-In" leaves the air to be replaced by longer Monday night movies and a half-hour series to be called "Monday Theatre." It's a potpourri of comedy and drama, which sounds like a mess of rejected pilots.

Bishops Don't Want Priests in Politics

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops don't want priests to run for political office. Some are seeking congressional seats this year for the first time in American history.

Heads of dioceses "should discourage any priest from seeking public office," said a report accepted without dissent Tuesday by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

The report, drawn by a committee on pastoral practices headed by Archbishop Paul F. Leibold of Cincinnati said Canon Law 139 disapproved of clergyman entering political contests.

Archbishop Philip M. Hannan of New Orleans, head of an information committee, said however that exceptions can be made with approval of the head of a diocese or religious order.

It's the first time for Catholic priests to make such congressional bids, although one was appointed to Congress in 1822, and many Protestant clergymen have held congressional seats.

Canon Law 139, while not absolutely prohibiting priests from such activity, says it "is not supposed to be undertaken except where the interests of the Church are concerned."

The report said the Second Vatican Council's documents on the laity and the Church in the modern world also "seemed to discourage" priests from entering political races.

Auto Union Has Contract All Ready

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — With new contract demands tailored to his liking, Walter P. Reuther awaits re-election as president of the United Auto Workers on Thursday to strengthen his hand in negotiations later this year with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Reuther's re-election is being challenged for the first time since 1949 before 3,170 delegates representing the union's 1.6 million members at a biennial convention.

Art Fox, a longtime critic of Reuther, is running for the presidency but is given virtually no chance of an upset.

The convention elects new officers and International executive board members Thursday. A set of new contract demands, supported by the Reuther administration, drew lopsided approval Tuesday. They included: —A "substantial" but unspecified wage increase.

—Retirement after 30 years service at a minimum pension of $500 a month, regardless of age. A $400 pension after 30 years service now is possible at age 60.

—Unlimited cost of living allowances geared to the government's consumer price index.

—A year-end bonus on also accepted reports detailing major advances in Christian unity talks and outlining progress by a Church mediation committee toward settling California's long table grape strike.

Bishop Joseph F. Donnelly of Hartford, Conn., committee chairman, said the recent signing of contracts between five growers and the union led by Cesar Chavez indicate a breakthrough in the five-year dispute.

The bishops also accepted a report from Bishop Charles Holsing of Kansas City, chairman of a committee on ecumenism and interreligious affairs, saying unity talks with theologians of some other denominations have moved "into quite an advanced state."

Basic agreements on the Eucharist—the Lord's Supper—and on the ministry have been reached with Episcopalians, and to a tentative degree with Lutherans, the report said.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset grounds that "what is fitting for executives is equally fitting for workers."

—A worker stock-purchase plan.

The current average hourly wage in the auto industry is $4.02 and fringe benefits such as pensions, insurance and supplemental unemployment benefits add an additional $1.75 an hour according to the automakers.

Three-year contracts negotiated in 1967 expire next Sept. 14. They cover 750,000 employed by the Big Three and set the pattern for UAW bargaining with auto supply plants and the aerospace and agricultural implement industries.

Because of sagging new car sales, increasing dealer inventories and growing worker layoffs, Reuther has conceded his union faces possibly its toughest negotiations since the 1958 recession.

He told a news conference following the wrapup of economic demands Tuesday, however, that profits of the industry have been "scandalously high" in recent years and repeated a previous assertion that "we will not be bargaining about the economy of 1970 but about the future."

Cloudiness Increases Over State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A weak high pressure system that had affected Arkansas' weather for the past couple of days moved eastward Tuesday night and a developing storm system to the west was beginning to influence the state's weather.

Clouds increased over the state Tuesday night, which resulted in warmer temperatures today, the Weather Bureau said.

The bureau said by tonight, a cold front would be moving close to Western Arkansas, and showers and thundershowers should become more numerous over the state as the front moves into the area.

Highs Tuesday ranged from 71 at Jonesboro and Little Rock to 81 at Texarkana.

Overnight lows included 61 at Fayetteville and Memphis, 55 at Harrison, 57 at Jonesboro, 62 at Pine Bluff and Texarkana, 60 at El Dorado, 58 at Little Rock and 59 at Fort Smith.

Rubber Firm Is Struck by 23,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. has been struck by 23,000 rubber workers, and layoffs resulting from wildcat strikes by truck drivers increased across the nation.

The United Rubber Workers Union struck 15 Goodyear plants Monday night after contract negotiations in Cincinnati were broken off.

The rubber workers postponed strike deadlines against the three other giant tire companies and continued negotiations with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Uniroyal and B. F. Goodrich.

Issues in the Goodyear strike were not disclosed and there was no word on developments in any of the negotiations. The rubber workers currently average $3.87 an hour, the union says.

In other labor disputes, 430 mechanics struck Ozark Air Lines, shutting down the Midwestern carrier; teacher strikes continued in Los Angeles and Minneapolis; and New York newspaper negotiations resumed in an air of pessimism.

Hopes of settling the trucking strikes dwindled when federal mediators were unable to bring the two sides together in Chicago, considered the key point in the scattered walkouts.

The mounting number of layoffs due to the trucker strikes touched nonstriking truckers and various parts-short industries from coast to coast. In addition to Chicago, the strikes were centered in St. Louis, Cleveland and Los Angeles.

The striking truckers have been protesting a tentative nationwide contract which provides pay increases of 1.10 hourly over three years. The National Teamsters Union has said it would conduct a referendum on the settlement, but it hasn't set a timetable for the vote.

Chicago truckers have been demanding the contract provide raises of $1.65 an hour over three years.

Chicago business leaders said the city's layoffs due to the strike has reached 40,000 and could climb to 350,000.

Other cities reporting layoffs included: St. Louis, Omaha, Neb., Seattle, Wash., Portland, Ore., Pomona, Calif., Indianapolis and Minneapolis—St. Paul.

Major airline service was cut from 20 cities in Missouri, Illinois and Iowa by the Ozark strike. The airline shut down after members of some other unions refused to cross the mechanics' picket lines. About 2,200 persons were idled.

The strike began Sunday over demands for wage increases and work guarantees.

In Los Angeles about half the city's 25,000 teachers continued to strike for increased pay and smaller classes. The Minneapolis strike, calling for similar demands, continued while the school board planned an attempt to reopen the schools. The board announced its plan after negotiations broke off Monday during a deadlock over money

Truck Firms Forced to Lay Off Some

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The

Teamsters Union spokesman said Monday that trucking firms in Arkansas are being forced to lay off employees because of a wildcat strike by truck drivers in several cities outside the state.

George Shackelford, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 878, said Monday that he had no idea how many truckers in the state had been laid off. He said the situation would get worse in Arkansas if the strike does not end.

Shackelford said some merchandise was stacked on docks waiting for shipment and that several private businesses were worried about shipping their merchandise to other parts of the country.

Issues.

Of the New York newspaper dispute between the city's four major daily papers and 10 unions representing 13,000 workers, mediator Theodore W. Kheel said: "The situation is very critical and becomes more critical each day as pressures continue to mount in the composing room of the New York Times."

The printers, who have been conducting union meetings for about 13 out of every 24 working hours at the Times, have said they would lengthen the slowdowns today.

Twelve elementary school girls have registered as candidates for FFA Junior Rodeo Queen, according to Mike Wine-miller chairman.

Selection of the winner will be made by voting at the first showing of the rodeo Friday night at eight o'clock in the coliseum. Announcement of the winner will be at Saturday night's show.

The candidates are Kathy Cox, June Ann Downs, Becky Faulkner, Glenda Gay Ford, Carol Harwell, Jo Lynn Herndon, Susan Hogue, Darlene Honea, Darlene Jones, Cindy Rhodes, Venita Jo Rogers, Taula Kay Underwood.

They will ride in Friday's parade and in the grand entry each night of the rodeo.

Arkansas Is Observing Earth Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"Earth Day" observances are scheduled at several Arkansas colleges and universities today in an attempt to call attention to man's deteriorating environment.

Ten staff members of the Arkansas Pollution Control Commission will participate in talks at the University of Arkansas, Arkansas Tech, Arkansas State University, Arkansas College and the University of Arkansas at Little Rock.

"I'm interested in the observance and I'm looking forward to it," said S. Ladd Davies, director of the commission, "I hope the kids go deeply into it (environmental problems)."

"I think we're fortunate here (in Arkansas)," he said, "we've still got reasonably good conditions but it's still going to have to be watched and worked on and there's room for improvements in some areas. These college kids are going to be running things before long and awareness (of pollution problems) is going to be a real value."

Several thousand persons across the state are to participate in "Earth Day" observances and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has declared today "earth Day" to "promote environmental awareness and mark the beginning of a concerted effort to further environ-

Suggestions on Nomination Are Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, ignoring the suggestions of a number of Senate Republicans, made no effort to clear with them the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Harry Blackmun before making a final decision on it.

To seek advance clearance would have been highly unusual. But, as one Republican senator noted, "The defeat of two successive court nominees was highly unusual, too. If the choice is between being unusual and being embarrassed, I'd rather be unusual every time."

Following the defeat April 8 of G. Harrold Carswell, Nixon's second choice to sit on the Supreme Court, there was a groundswell of sentiment among the members that further embarrassment might be avoided if Nixon consulted with them before deciding on a third nominee.

A series of interviews with mental understanding and education."

"The problem is here, and now is the time to correct it before it gets out of hand," said James McClellan, chairman of the Earth Day activities at Southern State College, "the program we have planned for Earth Day is a means of arriving at a solution — by first stating the problem as it exists all over the world."

At Ouachita Baptist University, automobiles will be barred from the campus.

At the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, trash on the campus will not be picked up for a week. Students are to gather the litter in bags and pile it in front of the library to demonstrate the amount of material that must be dumped or burned when disposable items are used.

At Arkansas College, students plan a scavenger hunt and march through downtown Batesville.

John G. Mitchell of New York, former science editor of Newsweek magazine, will present a lecture at Henderson State College.

Senate Republicans disclosed that there was no consultation, and that they were given only 16 hours notice before the Blackmun nomination was announced. The interviews turned up this sequence of events:

The first to learn of Blackmun's election was Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, the ranking Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee.

About 11 p.m. April 13, Hruska began calling other Republican leaders to inform them that there would be a briefing the following morning at which they would be told above several persons who had been considered for the court seat. However, Hruska said, Blackmun was the administration's choice.

The briefing was conducted by Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst.

"He did all the talking," one senator recalled.

"Kleindienst made a special point of telling us how the FBI had interviewed 109 people during their investigation of Blackmun," the senator said.

Kleindienst also told the 10 Senate Republicans that several black lawyers who had brought cases before Blackmun's 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals had pronounced him a thoughtful judge suited for the Supreme Court.

The Justice Department was aware at the time, Kleindienst said, that Blackmun did have a stock portfolio and that three companies in which he owned stock had been involved in court decisions. But Kleindienst brushed off the matter as relatively inconsequential because the amount of stock owned in each case was low.

He promised the senators a complete report on the stock holdings later, and the report became public the day after the nomination.

The senators at the meeting generally felt when it was over that they had heard nothing to make them think Blackmun wasn't qualified to sit on the Supreme Court.

Nonetheless, most senators have been highly reluctant to voice their support for Blackmun.

"It's too soon," one senate aide explained. "The last two nominations looked good at the outset and the people who supported those judges said so and

Charges Filed in Death of a 4-Year-Old

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Second-degree murder charges are to be filed today against Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Whitley, both 43, of Bradford in connection with the death of their 4-year-old son, Michel.

Prosecutor Ed Bethune of Searcy said the child died Tuesday at a Little Rock hospital.

Bethune said the couple and two of their children, Michel and George, 9, left Saturday for a trip to Memphis.

"They allegedly were drinking vodka and Michel was allowed to drink the vodka," Bethune said. He said the child later became sick and allegedly was intoxicated.

Bethune said when the family returned to Bradford, the child was left in the care of his 13-year-old sister while Mrs. Whitley went to work and Whitley to Searcy.

Bethune said a neighbor was notified that the child was sick and she took him to a Searcy hospital. The child was later transferred to a Little Rock hospital.

wound up with their feet in their mouths. They just don't want to get caught again."

Nixon's first nominee, Clement F. Haynsworth, was defeated 55 to 45 last November. The Senate turned down Carswell 51 to 45.

Since Blackmun's nomination, there have been scores of investigations into the judge's background. Among the things turned up is that there is a restrictive clause in the deed to his $58,770 home on the outskirts of Rochester.

He can sell his property to anyone he wishes—there are no racial restrictions. But the deed clearly states that he can keep no poultry flocks of over 50 chickens.

"I don't think there should be any problem over that," one senator commented. "At least he can have taken chickens."

Home, Sweet Home!
Carswell's Ironic
Senate Twist

Underneath the familiar plaque "Home, Sweet Home," a certain Hope house has a new framed slogan which reads: "Women have many faults, men have only two—everything they say and everything they do."

Uncivil war, we call it.

Those bright lads in the United States Senate who rejected the nomination of Judge G. Harold Carswell to the United States Supreme Court on the grounds that he was a "mediocre" character may be due for some poetic justice.

Odds are that Carswell may join that august body by the same method the others got there—making the reputation of the Senate something less than august.

Carswell on Monday resigned as a judge of the Fifth Circuit court of Appeals and announced he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for senator from Florida. Senate "liberals" have gone a long way toward ensuring his nomination and election by rejecting him for the court and making him a martyr in the South in general, and particularly in Florida where the Democrats have been losing ground for years.

Liberals have an undeserved reputation for being knowledgeable smart guys—and inevitably do something stupid such as tagging a presidential nominee "mediocre." That's efficiency—expert language which angers the average citizen—as every grass-roots politician knows.

Now the smart boys may very well have Carswell as a fellow senator—and they'll have to hide in the cloakrooms to escape the sound of public laughter.

For two bits this editor would launch a public appeal for campaign funds to help Carswell get elected. An educated guess tells me it would go over big here and state-wide. And it would be the best possible retort to Bill Fulbright for misrepresenting Arkansas in the clutch vote by which the Senate rejected Carswell for the Court.

3 Americans Hurt in Middle East Blast

TEL AVIV (AP) — A terrorist hand grenade wounded three American tourists and a dozen other persons today in the main square of Nablus in Israeli-occupied Jordan, the Israeli military command reported.

Two of the Americans were identified as Sylvia Caplan, Andover, Mass., and her sister, Eva Labell, Everett, Mass.

Three other wounded also were identified as tourists from West Germany and South Africa.

The remainder of the wounded were said to be local residents, including three immigrants just arrived from Chile.

Michael Shashar, spokesman for the Israeli military authorities in the area, said he had no information on how the explosive was thrown. He said several persons were taken into custody for questioning.

Nablus, on the Jordan River's west bank was captured by Israeli forces in the 1967 Middle East war. It is an Arab soap-producing center with a population of over 44,000. The Bible called the town Shechem and said it was used by Jacob and Joshua as a camp.

Some of the injured were flown by helicopter to Tel Hashomer Hospital near Tel Aviv. They were reported in good condition.

Convention Industry Good

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Charles Rixse, manager of the Hot Springs Convention Bureau, said Tuesday that the convention industry as a whole at Hot Springs had increased during the first quarter of this year compared to 1969.

Rixse said there have been 135 conventions with 23,570 delegates who spent an estimated $1,238,550 so far this year compared to 83 conventions with 13,408 delegates who spent $881,995 for the first three months of 1969.

Hurst Thinks Democrats at Low Ebb

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs said Tuesday that the Democratic party in Arkansas is at a new low ebb and said much of the blame can be laid on a few younger members of the party.

"I must admit that the Democratic party in Arkansas is at a low ebb," Hurst said. "For some reason we have allowed a few young men in the Democratic party to cast so many disparaging remarks and statements against the people they refer to as 'Old Guard' until many of us who have been in the party for so many years have allowed some of the young fellows, people of the Sterling Cockrill philosophy, to get at the head of many important positions in the Democratic party."

"And they have proved to be leaderless," Hurst said. "They have proven to not have fathomed the practical side of politics, and tonight we (Democrats) are not in good shape."

Hurst made the remarks when asked how Cockrill's switch from the Democratic party to the Republican party would affect the Democrats.

Hurst said the move would hurt the Democrats more than it would help the Republicans. Hurst said the Democrats would have to have a "revival of the spirit from some of the people who have had experience in public office, from some of the people who have gone through these fights before."

"We're going to have to have someone go to Little Rock and assist Charles Matthews (state chairman of the Democratic party), someone with experience, someone who has had these same problems before," Hurst said.

Hurst said he was referring to "men like Orval Faubus, Sid McMath, Bill Smith, Sen. Lee Bearden, Sen. Deacon Wade, Sen. Max Howell, people of that nature."

Hurst said he believed House Speaker Hayes C. McClellin of Texarkana, Matthews and "possibly one or two of our representatives here in our (Garland) county who are addicted to this theory of new philosophy of government" had permitted the party to stray "and their philosophy has become so near the Republican party's that Sterling Cockrill didn't have far to go."

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — M. W. Martin, chairman of the board of directors of ASM Enterprises, announced Tuesday that the transportation firm will move its main offices from Springfield, Mo., to Pine Bluff.

The move is to be effective May 1. ASM specializes in shifting goods from one mode of transportation to another.

Figures Being Social Hermit Would Be a Very Nice Occupation

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Oh, when daffodils wave their golden banners and tulips lift their colorful cups to catch the sunshine and the rain, I get the feeling I'd like to be a hermit.

What a nice occupation that would be—at least during spring and summer. A hermit can get away from it all by being with it.

My idea is to be a sociable hermit not an unsociable one, to welcome all mankind but still keep it at arm's length.

I don't want to be a cave-dwelling hermit, because caves have an average year-round temperature of about 56 degrees, a mite chilly for antique bones. I want to be a hut-dwelling hermit and inhabit a comfortable stone hut in the shelter of vast trees by the side of a river on whose surface nothing would be allowed larger than a canoe.

The hut would contain a large meditation chamber, an open window, a perch for a singing bird, a mat by the fireplace for

NEWLY NAMED BY NIXON. The President is trying again, for the third time, to fill the Supreme Court vacancy. He has nominated U.S. Circuit Court Judge Harry A. Blackmun, left, to the post. Blackmun now faces the Senate for confirmation. Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, right, will be the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He was appointed by President Nixon to succeed Gen. ## Black Riots Continue in Trinidad

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON

Associated Press Writer
PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad

(AP) — The helicopter carrier Guadalcanal, flagship of the U.S. Navy's Caribbean force, left Puerto Rico today and headed in the direction of Trinidad, torn by Black Power disorders for the second straight day.

A landing ship dock— or LSD — accompanied the Guadalcanal, heightening speculation that they were making the run of nearly 600 miles to the Trinidadian capital of Port of Spain.

Shooting erupted here again as authorities sought information as to the whereabouts of rebellious elements of the island nation's 800-man army, called the Regiment.

The Guadalcanal normally carries 15 helicopters and 2,000 Marines in addition to her crew. Three deaths were reported in the Tuesday night violence that grew out of the arrests of 13 Black Power movement leaders. A rebellious soldier was killed by a coast guardman as he tried to flee the army camp six miles from Port of Spain, a 16-year-old youth throwing rocks from a rooftop was felled by a policeman's bullet and a fireman was killed when he was hit in the chest by a fire bomb.

The violence broke out when police tried to bring the 13 arrested Black Power leaders to the military camp at Tiburon Bay in order to ship them aboard coast guard boats to Nelson Island, a small detention prison off the coast.

The explosion crippled the Apollo 13 spacecraft, forced cancellation of its moon landing and imperiled the lives of the astronauts for four days while they fought to bring their craft back to earth safely.

When the trouble started, Swigert said during the news conference, "I felt a vibration accompanying the bang. Not a large vibration, a shudder."

Two seconds later, he said, "I had a master alarm. I transmitted to Houston that we had a problem."

Haise said that after the bang he noticed a fuel cell "was not outputting any amps."

Asked whether they felt an awareness of "the infinite Power watching over you," Swigert replied: "If you're asking whether I prayed, I certainly did. And I have no doubt that perhaps my prayers and the prayers of the rest of the people did an awful lot for us getting back."

Judgment of $15,000 in Land Suit

A jury awarded Roscoe Bowden and wife $15,000 for property taken in by Interstate 30. The Bowdens appraised their property at about $37,000. The Arkansas Highway Department refused to pay the amount the Bowdens ask and the suit resulted.

The case was heard in Hempstead Circuit Court yesterday. Earl Ray Murphy entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of burglary and as did Robert Lee Ellison, charged with burglary and grand larceny.

Another civil case, State of Arkansas, vs. C.D. Hunter, was being heard Wednesday. It also involves land taken for Interstate 30.

Circuit Judge W.H. Arnold III set bond at $20,000 for Richard Neal Williams, 16-year-old Delight youth accused of murdering two persons and raping a 12-year-old girl. The bond was set at the request of Williams' attorney, Lester Dole of Camden.

He is charged with first degree murder in connection with the March 30 fatal shooting of Mrs. Lou Dean Cassidy, 37, of Nashville and Paul Parsons, 40 of Delight. He is also charged with first degree rape for an alleged criminal assault on Mrs. Cassidy's 12-year-old daughter.

Williams is in the State Hospital for examination.

In other action yesterday, J.W. Hawthorne, charged with violating the Arkansas hot check law, was sentenced to five years in prison. He pleaded guilty. Hawthorne was released from prison only last March.

5 American Planes Lost in Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the loss of four American planes over the lower panhandle of Laos and three helicopters in South Vietnam. It was one of the highest aircraft tolls reported at one time in the war.

The command said one American was killed, three were missing and three were injured in the crashes.

U.S. headquarters reported: Two propeller-driven Air Force A1 Skyraider bombers were shot down Tuesday, but both pilots were rescued with slight injuries. Apparently they were attacking supply convoys moving down the Ho Chi Minh Trail through eastern Laos.

A Navy A4 Skyhawk jet flying from a 7th Fleet carrier in the Tonkin Gulf was shot down today, and the pilot is missing. Apparently he, too, was bombed.

Peace Corps Worker to Address Lions

The Hope Lions club will hear a talk Monday night by Miss Marylyn Fraley of Little Rock, who has spent two years with the Peace Corps in Guatemala.

This talk, according to Program Chairman Cecil O'Steen, should be of especially interest to the Lions as the club recently voted to financially support a CARE project in that Central American country.

The Hope club, in cooperation with other Lions clubs in Arkansas, is raising money to build a school building in rural Guatemala. As a member of the Peace Corps, Miss Fraley has worked with such CARE projects.

Miss Fraley is a native of California. She attended the University of Oregon for two years and graduated from the University of Southern California. Her term with the Peace Corps expired last June and she is currently employed as public information officer for the Model Cities program in Little Rock. She is a cousin of Lion Arthur Wimmell of McCaskill.

Cambodia Renews Plea for U.S. Arms in Flight Against Cong Invasion

By KENNETH J. FREED

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Cambodia's reported urgent renewal of its plea for U.S. arms aid in its struggle against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese has put President Nixon in a delicate diplomatic and political bind.

The President is considering the appeal, disclosed Tuesday night by administration sources. A similar request for weapons and other material was made last week by the new Cambodian regime.

Nixon has taken a position against widening U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia and is under congressional pressure to adhere to this policy, even though the Phnom Penh government of Premier Lon Nol did not ask for troops.

And the administration wants to avoid any charges that Cambodia has given up its neutralist role by linking up militarily with the United States.

Yet there is little doubt Cambodia is having a difficult time handling attacks by the Viet Cong-North Vietnamese elements and Nixon does not want a Communist takeover of the tiny nation that neighbors Vietnam.

One possible out being studied by the administration is the possibility of an international arrangement to provide aid to Cambodia with an eye toward supporting the Phnom Penh government's neutrality.

Lon Nol opened up this possibility last week when he issued a call for aid from other nations, saying he would accept "all unconditional foreign aid from all sources."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has led the opposition to any extension of American military aid, no matter what the form, to Cambodia.

After the Phnom Penh regime's initial request for help, Mansfield said the only way for the United States to avoid further destructive conflict in Southeast Asia is to go no further "in any way, shape or form."

Other opposition to answering the Lon Nol appeal has come from Sens. Frank Church, an Idaho Democrat, and John Sherman Cooper, Republican from Kentucky.

They say they will seek congressional approval of a proposal to ban the use of American combat troops in Cambodia, a prohibition similar to one passed last year regarding Laos and Thailand.

Another troublesome factor in the U.S.-Cambodian aid equation has been the reports by American journalists of the massacre of Vietnamese civilians living in Cambodia.

When asked last week whether such killing might affect the U.S. decision on granting military aid to Cambodia, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said, "I wouldn't want to make a judgment."

But he said "any mass killing of innocent people is abhorrent and warrants condemnation."

A variety of projects—ranging from symbolic demonstrations and clean-up campaigns to teach-ins and speeches by executives of companies that have been singled out as polluters—are being tackled today to mark Earth Day. The unprecedented event focuses attention across the country on pollution problems.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmental Teach-In, Inc., the tax-free organization that spearheaded the EarthDay program, is becoming Environmental Action, a taxable organization ready to participate in political campaigns and corporate proxy fights to further the anti-pollution cause.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts, in a nationally broadcast news conference, said that they knew they were in trouble when they heard "a rather large bang" and noticed rapidly falling oxygen pressure and electrical power. The three say they were cold, bone-tired and worried about whether they'd get home, but add that they'd be willing to go again.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cambodia has reportedly made an urgent renewal of its plea for U.S. arms aid in its struggle against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, a move that places President Nixon in a bind between promises not to widen U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia and the possibility that the tiny nation neighboring South Vietnam might fall to the Communists.

Doctors raised their prices higher, and hospitals continued to increase their rates, so that the price of medical care services climbed 6.8 per cent in the month, the biggest increase since September 1968.

But, both new and used cars declined in price, and food prices showed a considerably smaller gain in March than in February—largely because egg prices dropped 13 per cent; meat was six-tenths of one per cent higher, in spite of lower prices for pork and bacon.

FFA Rodeo Guided by Committees

Working behind the scenes to keep the 11th annual FFA Rodeo moving are ten committees. David Still is refreshments chairman along with Jesse Henry, Joy Wyatt, and Richard Lively.

Alvin Flenory has been head of ticket sales and again the top salesman will get a 33-foot nylon lariat as his prize.

Mike Winemiller has rounded up the junior rodeo queen contestants and will see that they are in the right place at the right time.

Bruce Barrett, Phil Watkins, and Hiram Reynolds head the junior bulls committee. Tim Voss and Jimmy McKame will ramrod the parade; David Ward and Tommy Graves, entries.

Mike Vines, Tommy Adams and Dale Daugherty head the arena committee; Calvin Willis and Gary Don Jones, clean up; Randall Tullis and Joe David Key, pigs; and David Ward, Don Bingham, Joe David Key, and Ronnie Barham, stock.

For the Honor Roll, a 3.5 grade-point average, 76 students are listed.

Living Cost Just Keeps Climbing

By STERLING F. GREEN

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living climbed another one-half of one per cent in March, disappointing Nixon administration officials who had hoped for a slowing in the fastest rise of consumer prices in 20 years.

The Labor Department reported the gain today. However, it said that its monthly index, when adjusted for seasonal changes, rose four-tenths of one per cent.

This was a bit better than the five-tenths of one per cent seasonally adjusted increase in February and the six-tenths of one per cent rise shown in each of the three preceding months.

The index climbed to 133.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average. That meant that it cost the average city dweller $13.32 to purchase the same assortment of goods and services he could have bought for $10.00 a little more than 10 years ago.

A painful rise in mortgage interest rates, 4.5 per cent for the month and almost 24 per cent higher for more than one fourth of the rise in the entire living cost index.

Doctors raised their prices higher, and hospitals continued to increase their rates, so that the price of medical care services climbed 6.8 per cent in the month, the biggest increase since September 1968.

But, both new and used cars declined in price, and food prices showed a considerably smaller gain in March than in February—largely because egg prices dropped 13 per cent; meat was six-tenths of one per cent higher, in spite of lower prices for pork and bacon.

Group Told Middle Class Youths Hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special Senate committee opening a six-month probe of the effects of segregation on American society has heard testimony that racism has contributed significantly to the revolt of white, middle-class youths.

"There is strong evidence to suggest that segregation damages the privileged, middle-class white child," Negro psychologist Kenneth Clark told the Senate Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity Monday.

Citing the hippie movement, the drug cult, the hostility and random destructiveness of the New Left and the increasing rebellion against parental and other authorities, the noted psychologist added:

"The rebellion is symptomatic of a profound moral conflict and distrust and rejection of authority as morally hypocritical by these young people."

"It is a rejection of moral values of our society. It is a rejection of reason itself."

"I view it as an attempt to ease the personal guilt which a racist society imposes on morally sensitive individuals," he said.

Clark, a professor at the City

University of New York, told the panel the symptoms of a moral breakdown—drugs, violence and hippie life-styles—"do not appear in the majority of American white youths."

But the majority have suffered damage, he said.

"The majority accepts the rationalizations, excuses and prejudices of American society. They have accepted a philosophy which rejects morality as irrelevant," he explained.

If all Americans could understand this problem, he said, "they would make it their first business to find ways to protect their children from this destruction of their humanity."

Clark added that he was convinced the promises of the 1954 Supreme Court school desegregation decision are not going to be fulfilled.

He posed the nation make 1976, the year of the nation's bicentennial, the target for reversal of present policies and achieve the objectives of the 1954 high court decision.

Fulbright wants Soviet trips

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., voted for a bill passed by the Senate Monday authorizing a five-year, $5 million program of trips to the Soviet Union by U.S. officials.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., voted against the measure.

Smithsonian to Feature State Folklore

The Smithsonian Institution announces that its fourth Festival of American Folklife will be held this year from July 1 through 5 on the National Mall in Washington, D.C.

This free celebration drew more than 600,000 people last summer.

As in past years, craftsmen, musicians and dancers representing states from around the nation will demonstrate the living ethnic cultures existing in America.

Performances and exhibits will be put on from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily during the Festival. Concerts will be held nightly on the Mall, except for July 4 when the traditional fireworks display on the Washington Monument grounds will be followed by an Indian powwow on the Festival's main stage.

Arkansas will be the featured state this year. A quarter of the exhibition area will be devoted to craft demonstrators and performers from that state. There will be a mule-drawn sorghum mill, cornshuck and apple-head doll makers, wine-making by Arkansans of Swiss origin, and other interesting activities.

Another quarter of the exhibition area will be devoted to a presentation of the Southern Plains Indians culture, including craft demonstrations, food preparations, traditional games singing, drumming, and a night ly powwow.

Among the foods to be sold at the Festival will be barbecued buffalo meat, Indian fried bread, Arkansas barbecued chicken, and blackberry cobbler prepared Ozark style.

Plans for the celebration were announced by James R. Morris, head of the Smithsonian's Division of Performing Arts, and Ralph Rinzler, Festival Director.

The Folklife Festival has evoked such widespread interest since its inception that Senators J. William Fulbright of Arkansas and Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas have joined to sponsor a Bill (S. 1591) now before the Senate to establish at the Smithsonian a foundation for American folk-life research and presentations.

The Festival drew 431,000 as a three-day event in its first season in 1967, 515,000 as a four-day event in 1968, and 615,000 as a six-day program in 1969. More than 714 people representing most of the 50 states have

Move Gives Commanders More Latitude

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon's plans for withdrawal of 150,000 more U.S. troops from Vietnam over the next 12 months appear in Saigon to give American field commanders considerable latitude and to meet their fears of a precipitous pullout.

Unlike the three other cut-backs Nixon ordered since last June, the President did not commit himself to a short-range timetable. In what one source called a "different kind of package," Nixon said the "timing and pace of these new withdrawals within the over-all schedule will be determined by our best judgment of the current military and diplomatic situation."

There might be no substantial troop withdrawals for the next several months if field commanders fear a new enemy upsurge like that in early April which resulted in a jump in both U.S. and South Vietnamese casualties. Such a withdrawal pause would also give an additional breathing spell for Vietnamization to progress.

Some field commanders say further immediate troop cuts in some regions, particularly the five northernmost provinces south of the Demilitarized Zone, would put the pacification program in jeopardy. The U.S. JT Chiefs of Staff, apparently acting on recommendations from Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, urged a two-month delay in further withdrawals.

Nixon said his decision to reduce U.S. troop strength by another 150,000 men was made after consultation with his commanders in the field. He did not say the field commanders approved. This left the impression in Saigon that Nixon's decision, but that the President gave some ground by not committing Abrams to a short-range timetable.

Nixon also said his decision has the approval of the Saigon government. President Nguyen Van Thieu has indicated that he is in no hurry to see a fast drain-off of American troops. In his last major statement on the question, he told a news conference on Jan. 9 that American combat troops will be needed in South Vietnam beyond 1970.

Tech School Plans to Train Convicts

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The first vocational training program in the state for convicted felons was announced Monday at Pines Vocational Technical School at Pine Bluff.

The program would give inmates at the state prisons an opportunity to learn a "marketable" trade while serving time.

The program was announced at a news conference attended by John R. Price, head of the Intermediate Reformatory at Tucker Prison Farm, who represented the Department of Corrections; Raymond Fau-cotte, representing the state Department of Education, and Leon Coker, superintendent of the vocational school.

Those agencies will cooperate in the program along with the state Rehabilitation Service and the Employment Security Division.

Price said the training program would not affect the agricultural program at the prison.

Coker said two buildings at Tucker are to be completed by July 6 and classes would begin as soon as instructional supplies and equipment could be moved in and installed. He said courses which can be taught in existing facilities, such as cooking, will begin before July 1.

Price said buildings for vocational training at Cummins Prison Farm are to be completed about Sept. 1. He said trades such as carpentry and electrical work will be incorporated with the existing maintenance work in the prison.

"We are now about to announce a program that will meet the needs of the inmates," Price said. "The inmates will be available to take the courses in either cooking, welding, drafting, mechanics, auto body repairs, painting and building trades will be selected on the basis of age, length of service in the institution, vocational aptitude, academic background, interest and physical and mental aptitudes."

"I feel that we can give a man a marketable skill where he can come out into the community and be a good citizen," Price said.
